

Re: Escalating Prices

4/7/2022

We have been doing our best to keep up with inflationary facts while being fair with our customers and our own ethical responsibilities to provide for our families.

This is a difficult task, to say the least.

We have recently increased our shipping prices on internet sales as we have been losing money on every shipment for weeks.

If you are overcharged in shipping you will be refunded the proper amount.

Please note that some products are on backorder. If your product is on backorder, you will be contacted ASAP and refunded should you so choose.